Commends Architect

Fred Wagner, architect, was commended highly on Monday by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors for the manner in which he conducted a hearing anent the Turnkey Low Rent Housing Project being built on the Old Spanish Trail. Wagner, in the capacity of inspecting architect for that project, called attention to several discrepancies in construction practices and materials being used and insisted Local Housing Authorities should have a voice in the selection of types and colors of bricks being used on the 65 unit project.

Russell Elliott, president of the Board, said "Architect Wagner was instrumental in getting for our community a first-class Turn Key construction job instead of what might well have been second-rate."

Wagner has been invited by the Board to make a feasibility study of repairs needed on the County Court House with recommendations covering the extent of repairs that can be made within the limits of funds available for specific improvements.

Lights Out!

An interruption of electric service in some areas of Bay St. Louis served by Mississippi Power Company is scheduled Sunday morning, October 11, Perry F. Gibson, local manager, announced today.

The hour-long interruption will occur from 7:30 a.m.

until 8:30 a.m., to allow

Mississippi Power Company crews time to increase the capacity of a portion of the electric distribution system which serves Bay St. Louis.

"We regret any inconvenience this interruption may cause our customers," Gibson said, "but this increase in the capacity of our distribution system will allow our company to provide the electric power necessary to meet the growing needs of this municipality."

The area of Bay St. Louis affected by the interruption is situated from Carroll Avenue, and north along Dunbar to Melody Lane. This area includes Felicity, Commagore, Highland, Esplanade, Sunset, Ruska and Webster Streets, the North Bay and the Bay Royal apartment complexes, and the Air Shopping Center.

If inclement weather prevents the conversion this weekend, the interruption will be rescheduled during the same time period on Sunday, October 18, Gibson stated.

GARDENS (and Fern Cases), By Anne Ashberry

Many ferns and mosses, as well as some of the more exotic plants from the florist, will flourish with minimum attention in the moist atmosphere of a glass conservatory.

Author's simple, expert instruction and the obvious advantages of this type of plant cultivation for centrally heated schools, hospitals and other buildings may well launch in fashion for bottle gardens and fern cases. If properly cared for, they can be left for very long periods without attention, and old, inciting ones, without time or strength or opportunity for outdoor gardening, can find satisfaction in creating tranquil worlds of greenery and watching them grow.

Architecture Study Source of Enrichment

Brother William McCue, S. C. and Librarian at St. Stanislaus High School by request of the City-County Library Board has prepared a paper entitled "Architecture" which, because of its informative value is printed below in its entirety:

and caves. Slowly, however, man learned how to construct his own shelters, and thus was born the art of architecture.

In the beginning only the physical comfort of man was considered. But in time the mind, as well as the body, required satisfaction. Beauty became a consideration in the design of human shelter, and architecture became a fine art as well as a useful art. Aesthetic considerations became important very early in human history. In fact, long before the humans had started to form the cave dwellings of southwestern Europe, they were decorating those caverns with colorful mural paintings.

Man has always been religious. Whether his earliest movements, the house and the tomb, had to do with the shelter of his living or dead body, almost as early as he erected some sort of a sanctuary within which he could perform his appointed by certain rites, to propitiate those unseen forces which he believed inhabited his environment and guided his destinies. However, as human society slowly diversified its activities, new social functions called into being new types of structures.

Near a certain small village in Britain may be seen a group of locally famous "ringing stones." To the visitor they appear very much like the other stones that line the banks of a tidal stream which flows through the hamlet. Having heard them described as the wonders of the region, he is likely to betray some disappointment on seeing them lie

"WHERE FRIENDS MEET"

NOTICE
WAVELAND VOTERS

I would like to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the office of the Mayor of the Town of Waveland. In doing so let me make you familiar with my background and qualifications.

I have been a resident of Waveland for the past fifty-three (53) years. I am married to the former Isabell Tucker and we have three daughters and one son. My three daughters are married and two of them reside in Waveland. Both families have children attending school in Waveland. The other daughter resides in Mobile, Alabama. My one son is attending Jefferson Davis College in Gulfport.

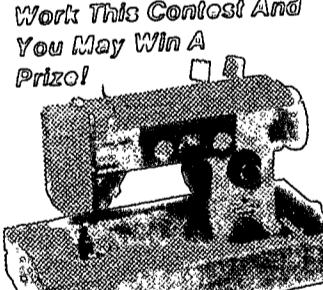

I have owned and operated my own business in contracting and business management in Waveland for the past twenty-seven (27) years. I am an active member of the Waveland Civic Association and a member of the St. Clare's Catholic Church. I feel that my previous background in business management would qualify me to see and understand the complex problems that face our town today. Along with my experience in business management I feel also, that my background in construction would qualify me to meet the great potential growth in industry and construction in the Town of Waveland in the years to come.

At this time I am soliciting your support and vote of confidence on election day. In the coming weeks before election I will be presenting to you, the voters, my platform for a better community for the people of this great little town.

Sincerely,

MELVIN R. (MEL) VILLEIRE,

icle Provides ful Information

Sept. 10 and under the heading "From A to Z" this paper printed a most informative and well-written article on how to find information in books. This article, written by Wm. McCus, Librarian at St. Stanislaus, deals on subject matter: "How to Find Information in Books." Those who like to do research work may wish to clip this article for future reference. It is reprinted below:

HOW TO GET INFORMATION QUICKLY

By Brother Wm. McCus, Librarian
St. Stanislaus College

Find information in books quickly and easily, it is necessary to know about the printed parts of a book and their arrangement. The parts explained here are given in the order in which usually appear. However, not all books have all the parts mentioned.

TITLE PAGE. It is the right hand page near the front of the book which contains the name of the book (title), the author, publisher, and the place of publication. Sometimes there is a subtitle (printed directly beneath the title) which is added to give a better idea of the scope of the book. Other information about the author is also sometimes given, especially important in books on scientific or historical subjects, as it helps to show whether the author is a prominent authority on the subject.

PUBLISHER'S NAME AND DATE. The publisher's name and the date and place of publication are at the bottom of the title page.

PYRIGHT. The date on the title page merely indicates the book was printed. The date on the reverse side is more important, as it indicates when the book was actually printed, and this usually is the date the book was completed.

DEDICATION. It is just the author's way of showing gratitude and affection for someone or something.

PREFACE. Some authors or editors use the term foreword instead of preface. In general the three terms are synonymous. It usually tells for whom the book is intended, what kinds of the book are, and how to use it. Sometimes it acknowledges help the author received in writing it, or includes remarks about the subject.

CONTENTS. The table of contents is always in the front of the book and lists the chapters or units or articles in the order in which they appear.

LISTS OF MAPS AND ILLUSTRATIONS. History and geography books very often include a list of the maps and charts. Novels and books of scientific or artistic nature frequently contain lists of the illustrations used.

BODY OF THE BOOK. The body is the main part of the book, sometimes called the text.

BIBLIOGRAPHY. Instead of the word bibliography some use the term reference list or authorities or reading. In this connection they all refer to a list of books and papers on a particular subject. Sometimes the list is intended to suggest material for further study and sometimes to indicate books the author used in gathering some of his information.

INDEX. The index is usually found on the last few pages of the book. To understand any index, it is important to read the title which is at the top of the first page of the index. In sets of books, the index is usually found in the last volume. Sometimes each volume has its own index, and sometimes both methods are used.

PENDIX. Found near the back of the book, this is material that is not really part of the text, but which is closely related to it.

GLOSSARY AND VOCABULARY. Books written in foreign languages, in old forms of English, in dialect, or in scientific terms peculiar to the subject of the book, often contain vocabularies or glossaries which resemble small dictionaries.

Relates Experiences With Hancock General Hospital

By Joe Pihl, Staff Writer

Clifton Saucier, a charter member of the Hancock General Hospital Board of Trustees and outgoing president of that organization, did a bit of reminiscing as he placed his signature on the minute book this week.

Saucier was appointed in January 1939 to fill the vacancy created when Charles Lovinger resigned to become a member of the Board of Supervisors. At that time the hospital's name had just been changed from Hancock County Hospital to Hancock General. The reason for the change, according to Saucier, was because the word "County" gave some people the false impression that the hospital was a charity organization.

Since then Saucier has served two five-year terms rarely ever missing a board meeting. Saucier lives in the North part of the County, a distance of twenty-five miles from the hospital and just to attend the regular meetings he has traveled an estimated 7,000 miles. Time has been a factor, too. Normally the Board meetings last about two or three and a half hours, however, Saucier said: "Sometimes we stayed till one or two o'clock in the mornings." "I doubt it," said Saucier, "if the average person realizes just how much time Board members spend in the interest of the hospital and its patients."

Saucier says he doesn't remember to much about the early history of Hancock County's hospitals. Quite a long time ago -- Dr. A. P. Smith operated a Clinic-Hospital on Main Street, and from 1921 through 1938 the Kings Daughters & Sons operated a hospital on Carroll Avenue that accommodated 12 patients. When the Hancock County hospital was built it had room for 32 patients. There were, in 1940, 10 private rooms; 20 semi-private rooms and 2 labor beds. At that time you could get a semi-private room for $10.50, a private room for $14.00 or private with a bath for $18.00. "Lots of things have changed in the interim," Saucier pointed out, "with current private room rates at $30; semi-private at $25 and unless ten mills can be increased or come other appropriations made for hospital operation expenses rates will probably have to go up again".

"It costs $40 per day per patient," Saucier said, and added the hospital handles some charity cases and some bad debts have to be written off. On charity cases the hospital gets a refund of $12.50 a day so they must absorb the $27.50 difference between the refund and actual operating costs. "In the fiscal year October 1, 1969 to Sept. 30, 1970 the hospital wrote off $11,380.17," Saucier stated.

The Women's Auxiliary came into being in January of 1938. Saucier said the work of these women and their interest in the hospital was of great benefit to the hospital. He said the drives performed by "Pink Ladies" were numerous, the group well organized and the contributions they accepted made the hospital run more smoothly both for the patients and the staff.

"You," Saucier admitted, "the hospital has had a few problems and met a few crises during my almost eleven years on the board. Inflation is one thing that has to be reckoned with." Saucier explained there was an over ten per cent increase in salaries to comply with the minimum wage scale of $1.45 per hour, and the salary increase had run $48,110 for that fiscal year. "This does not reflect additional persons," Saucier explained and added: "We try to cut expenses without compromising good patient care."

Possibly one of the greatest crisis the hospital ever had to face was the evacuation of patients during Hurricane Camille. By this time the Hancock General Hospital had added new wings, enlarged the laboratory, dining room and office and could accommodate 50 patients. Just behind the hospital is the cottage housing those elderly persons living in the County Home. Saucier felt that his wife (the former Janice Mitchell) and their five children would be able to manage long enough for him to assist H.J. Blackledge, hospital administrator, in evacuating these people. During a driving rain storm 64 persons were removed, some to Keesler Air Force Base Hospital, Biloxi; some to Charity and Marine Hospitals in New Orleans. "A contingent of men from the Jefferson Parish Civil Defense came in," recalled Blackledge at this point. "There was a corral bringing a generator, a man operator, and a water pump. We had well water by Thursday and although it couldn't be used for drinking purposes we could use it for sanitation." Blackledge said the Tennesse and Borden Companies "had lumber trucks with portable water daily. Some day, if I ever find the time, I plan to write my own account of what went on in our hospital during and after Camille".

Blackledge declared and said: "There was Cliff Saucier in the soaking rain carrying people out on his back -- and later get, Mr. Saucier, as president of our Board for the last several years, has gone far beyond the call of duty in trying to build improvements in the hospital."

With a fervent handshake, Saucier added: "I have enjoyed working with the Board and I feel that our hospital will continue to grow. Only those are bound to be come growing pains. When a consulting firm was asked to make a feasibility study they found further expansion of our present facilities impossible. Our hospital serves Hancock County, also parts of Harrison and Pearl River counties. With more people moving in and more industrial development it may be necessary to acquire a larger tract of land on which to build a bigger facility."

In concluding the interview Blackledge said: "I have worked with Mr. Saucier and he together with other members of the Board have been very cooperative. I cannot express my gratitude. I cannot think of a thing I asked for that we didn't

Rotros After Long Service

Leon C. Capdepone, Supervisor of General Accounting in Mississippi Power Company's General Office at Gulfport, is retiring after nearly 45 years of service, A. J. Watson, Jr., president announced today.

"On the occasion of Mr. Capdepone's retirement, we extend to him our appreciation for his many years of dedicated service to Mississippi Power Company and our best wishes for the years ahead," Mr. Watson said.

A native of Bay St. Louis, Mr. Capdepone received his education at Saint Stanislaus College from which he graduated in 1925. He was employed for several months in the Hancock County Chancery Clerk's office prior to joining Mississippi Power Company's Accounting Department at Gulfport on December 7, 1925. He assumed his present duties in May, 1943. Mr. Capdepone is a member of big time basketball and undisputed world champion women's basketball team will be appearing through the sponsorship of the St. Stanislaus Sideline Club and the Bay High Booster Club.

The "RED HEADS", a truly great basketball attraction will meet the local Hancock County All Stars men's team. The game will be played by regulation men rules. Last season the Red Heads played 203 games, all against men teams. The RED Heads won 168 of these games.

The RED HEADS feature top girl basketball talent found anywhere--and "living it up on the court" has been their trademark -- "How They Play The Game" has become their way of life.

The ALL AMERICAN RED HEADS "Magic at the Gate" makes this attraction great, and as always the Red Heads are drawing them through turnstiles in tremendous numbers. Alvin Gonia and James Ginn said that the organizations were most pleased at being able to get this much sought after attraction to play in our city.

Be sure to see Moore's fabulous RED HEADS on October 21, 1970 at the Bay High Tigerdome. Game time is 8:00 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from all members of the Sideline Club and the Bay High Booster Club.

CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS

DIAMONDHEAD PROPERTIES Making Rapid Progress

By Joe Pilet, staff writer

All roads in Hancock County lead to DIAMONDHEAD, where 500 acres of the highest wooded and rolling land on the Mississippi Gulf Coast is being developed into a planned city. As of October 5 lots were said to have been sold to people from virtually every state in the nation, including Hawaii and there are Puerto Rico owners whose lots range in size from 1000 square feet up to three acres and total sales are in excess of $1,004,870.

Diamond Head boasts eleven miles of beautiful shore lines and the stretch includes three separate bodies of water: The eastward flowing Jordan River, The city of St. Louis, and further down, Ralph (Sun) Prince says took a bit of research to learn by a beautiful body of water which the Retired Boy Scout should come up with such a misnomer. "When the Choctaw Indians inhabited this area it is said they did their butchering on the banks of this stream", Prince explained, "and carcasses of animals that had been killed for their skins were piled up to rot, apparently for later use as fertilizer for the corn. The Indian name for the Bayou was Bone wash, having a loose translation into English as the place of the carcass". And speaking of Indians -- some sandhillounds six feet high and 300 feet in diameter are on this property. Some arrowheads and other Indian artifacts have been found, however, Prince says no digging is allowed on the sites.

The Club House, an impressive structure containing some 6000 square feet, is currently under construction and activities. More a prospective buyer may arrange for a guided tour of the area, sit in a comfortable office and hear something about the plans being implemented, rather rapidly now, in a prestige-type city. In Holiday Village one, two, and three bedroom model cottages are on display. They have lovely phonetic names: "Oahu, Lanai and Maui" and Pacific Islanders will feel right at home in them.

In the planning stage is a Shopping Area, and condominiums with possibly up to 300 units. Prices for these units will vary from $12,000 up to the $20,000 bracket. The concept of a city named Diamond Head does emphasis on "pursuit of fitness and preservation of life". The elaborate club house complex will incorporate swimming pools, sauna baths, therapeutic pools, tennis courts, golf, game rooms, lounge and lovely dining rooms, gift shops and specialty shops.

Prince said: "We are not selling all of this property, we are if we are going to move away", and he explained that a church of any denomination wishing to build an edifice

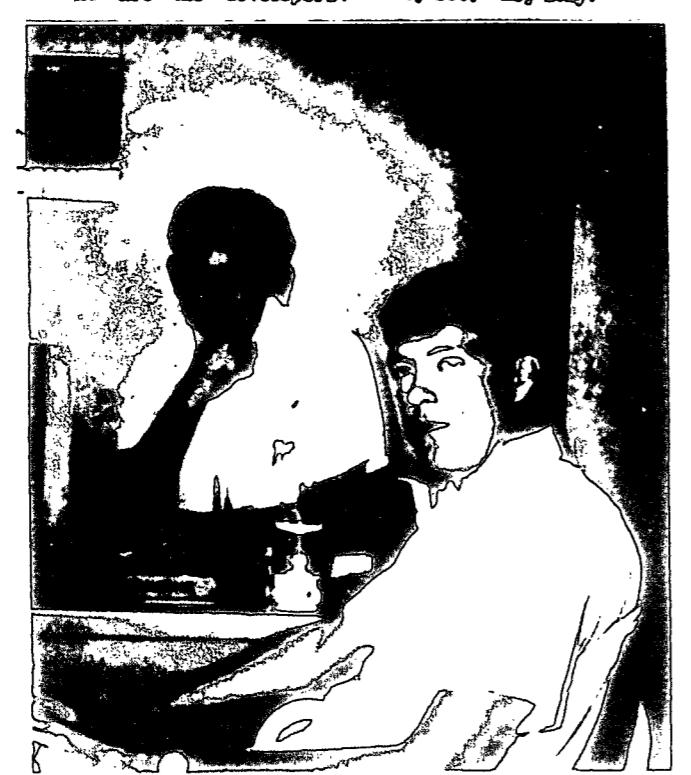

Diamond Head could obtain a deed of trust for one dollar, the only stipulation being that the structure would be erected within a starting date of not longer than 90 days. Prince said at least two private schools have expressed interest in the property, and more than two dozen medical doctors have already made purchases with view toward a clinic when population increases sufficiently. Lots have been sold to some 200 Gulf Coast people, most of these lot owners lost their homes during Camille and are attracted to the Diamond Head elevation which runs anywhere from 10 feet on up to 105 feet. Prince said every structure would comply with regulations of the Southern Standard Building Code.

Asides from excellent fishing grounds and scenic water sites for boating, the water supply for drinking purposes and for sanitation is said to be excellent. Several wells already supply water tested and approved by the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Board and a for septicage, Prince said, will be lot by the end of this month. Completion date for the sewerage is set for March 1971. Diamond Head may be reached by land, by water and air. Exit 6 and Entrances to Interstate 10 make New Orleans citizens just about 45 minutes away. Bay St. Louis and Gulf coast people simply follow the familiar Diamond Head Road signs. Those in a hurry or who enjoy flying may arrange for a free ride on any one of Diamond Head's planes. There's a Jet, a DC-3 and a small two-pilot, seven passenger job called the Navajo. It's the historic plane that was at one time assigned to Winston Churchill.

How many people are employed in this dream city-building activity? "On location", says Prince "about 300." If you want to count the office in New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Memphis and Jackson there are well over 200 persons."

Who are the developers?

If You Put Your
TRUST in LIFE INSURANCE
Perhaps You Should Also Put Your LIFE INSURANCE in TRUST

The importance of an adequate Life Insurance program cannot be over-emphasized. It is one of the best methods of creating an estate. But, of necessity, options of distributing life insurance proceeds are somewhat limited.

This is where an active Trust Department can do so much in freeing family members from the burdens of investment management. Acting as your Executor and Trustee, we have the experience and knowledge to invest, protect and distribute the proceeds to your family's benefit.

We'll be pleased to discuss this with you at any time.

"Library On Wheels"

Means Book Library, known as "Bookmobile", has come to Bay St. Louis. It has been running highways and byways of County for two years, recognized for what it offers. A library on wheels is open to people of Hancock and Pearl River and Harrison as our trip takes the boundaries of County.

Long ago folks would go to bookmobile with "How many books cost?", "Do you have Christmas cards?" or "What are you doing?". Everyone now knows that an extension of County Public Library's aim is to bring joy to all who do not have the advantage of our at no cost, provided we return them. Books are at our disposal at our residences so the books should go no further.

City-County Library is adequately insured, according to a report by Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, Library's Board of The Hancock County Supervisors at their meeting unanimously increase by $20,000 insurance protection for litigation, Mrs. Griffith said coverage was only $33,500.

Picayune Library To Exhibit Works

Paintings, drawings, and lithographs by A U G U S T I N UBEDA, world renowned European artist with studios in Paris and Madrid will hang in the foyer of the Margaret Reed Crosby Memorial Library during the month of October.

The Bryant Galleries at 519 Royal Street in New Orleans is also featuring the work of Mr. Ubeda during the month and is supplying the art that will be exhibited in Picayune.

The artist was born in Huelva, Spain in 1925. He was educated there and at the School of Fine Arts in Madrid. His impact on the art world has been tremendous. His credits of gold medals and awards and his museum collections are far too numerous to list. He has had one man shows on four continents. His translucent qualities of color create a whole new dimension in painting. He paints what is today with the mystery of yesterday. The color, density, and intensity of the Dark Ages in Spain when racial unrest was rampant is seen in his work. His fabulous romanticism is art of and for the people. The Spanish critic, Manuel Conde, says, "Ubeda" combines the influence of surrealists like Picasso with his own patrimony. His work is infused with sentiment and nobly stated patriotism. It is simple, frank, optimistic, human, and sensitive."

The Friends of the Library, sponsors of the Ubeda exhibit, is very grateful to the Bryant Galleries for making it possible. It may be viewed at all hours the library is open.

Students will be able to browse and purchase books at the fair which will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Our Lady of the Gulf School Library (St. Joseph Academy Gymnasium building.) Books will again be on display for parents after the monthly Parents Club meeting.

This event is being sponsored by Our Lady of the Gulf School Library with Mesdames Joseph Marochino, R. Robinson and A. M. Thomas as co-chairmen assisted by Mesdames James Collins, R. Tacconi, Phil Kergosien, Phillip Scafidi, Tom Flynn, Charles Staehle and H. P. Williams, committee members.

The committee invited all students, parents and visitors to attend as the fair will not only help spur student interest in reading and building new libraries, but will also contribute to worthwhile projects.

The display will include attractive new books from publishers in all popular price ranges. All reading areas of interest to students will be represented, including classics, fiction, biographies, adventure stories, science, nature, crafts, mystery and reference books. The committee is working with Educational Reading Service, a professional book fair company, to furnish an individual selection of books for the display.

Should Be Eligible

If the old adage "to err is human" is true, then Robert Reighler, director of Bay St. Louis "Operation Uptown," proved there are some human beings employed at the Sea Coast Echo. Last week in an article appearing on Page 1 and captioned COMPLAINTS RECEIVED BY UPTURN OFFICE the word "ineligible" was used when the word eligible was intended. What Reighler would like to clarify is that there are cases where a person whose annual income exceeds $3,000 may be granted a loan for bringing his property-owned and occupied dwelling up to Standard Building Code requirements. These cases, as explained in the article, are when the applicant's total monthly houses expenses exceeds one-fourth of his monthly income.

A list of allowable housing expenses was also listed in the article.

The prize-winning recipe in the National Chicken Cooking Contest earned a $1,000 prize. It is called Buttermilk Pecan Chicken. We tried this recipe on a few of our friends who agreed that it is delightfully different.

Buttermilk Pecan Chicken

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 egg slightly beaten
- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup ground pecans (use your blander)
- 1/4 cup sesame seeds
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 1/8 teaspoon black pepper
- 2 - cut up frys (not the three pound size)
- 1/2 cup Mazola Corn oil (any oil will do - we recommend Mazola, highest in polyunsaturates)
- 1/4 cup pecan halves

Method: Mix buttermilk with egg. Mix together flour, pecan meal, sesame seed, salt, paprika and pepper. Dip chicken parts in buttermilk mixture and then in flour mixture until well coated.

Place corn oil in shallow roasting pan, add chicken turning occasionally.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dad) Elliott

Spent the past week in Jackson, Miss., where the weather is rather cool, yet come swellermen, making a couple of fishing trips to the Ross Barlow reservoir where bass and crappie fishing is tops. Also going couple of fishing trips to farm ponds.

Scouting on dove, found very few. Still too hot for the birds to visit the fields to feed. Found Clinton and Peleachatchie no hunting should be good in second and third segments of 8-day dove season.

As to fishing, bass and brim are being caught most everywhere. The fisherman do most live bait fishing, earth worms, crickets and live minnows. In cooler weather they go to underwater baits artificial worms, spinners, plugs, etc. This month, October andon, snipe and shell crabs will be caught on the bottom.

The fall months to us is better for both hunting and fishing. Starting in October a special cut will be found up Jordan River, Pearl River and tributaries while squirrel and rabbit seasons open on October 10th in the state. Will be a pleasure to hunt and fish without sweat running down your back.

Remember floundering can be done until December and January. Go up the rivers and bays. Especially in the Upper Campbell and Pearl River areas.

Teal Duck season opened on Sept. 19 and closed on Sept. 27th. Not too many reported killed. The second season on doves opens on Nov. 7th and runs to Nov. 29th. The first dove season wasn't too hot, could be more doves at that time.

Irwin Ballard does most of his hunting and fishing in the Ship Channel at Violet, La. Claims he catches plenty fish and crayfish there. Gonna look you up buddy.

Ray Naquin of Westwego, La., fishes and hunts at Dulac, La. Ray kills all his game and catches his fish in this section.

Met a real fisherman in Jackson, George Sunmarr who lives at Clinton, Miss. George gets his share of bass and other fresh water fish. He works in the tackle department at Jenny's store. Fishing on every day off, and brings home his quota.

Edwood and Katie Ruhl and sons do quite a bit of fishing. Edwood's second love is hunting. Can't wait for the hunting seasons to open. An employee of the Chevron Oil Co.,

this year. A pretty busy boy right now.

Met Father Paul Gillis, Father is not much of a fisherman or hunter but loves to play poker, bridge, etc. A swell guy to know, but hard to beat at cards.

July Ann Baudry is in high school. She is waiting for the basketball season to start. Plays basketball and participates in other athletics.

Romantic horse shows? We have had some hot matches. A skillful game and lots of fun and when they see one.

SPOKESMEN OF THE WEEK
JACK RUTLEDGE as to how him, loves his hunting and fishing. Jack fishes when he can and hunts at night for business and other sports. Contractors are never idle, they are fishing or hunting to please their customers. Jack and August Romot are contracting partners.

Got some big ones.

John Baudry is attending school at L.S.U., Baton Rouge, competition. A game your guests will like to play in your own back yard, in 1946 a horse-shoe court was constructed on the White House lawn to give President Truman a means of exercise that would not keep him from his desk too long. Horse-shoe pitching is much like the older game of quoits from which it developed. It can be played by two or four or by partners.

Horse fly bite animals and human beings. You can't fool a horse fly by know a jack ass when they see one.
